MINIMUM DISCLOSURE DOCUMENT

As of 31/12/2021

INVESTMENT OBJECTIVE AND POLICY

The Peregrine US Bond Fund seeks to provide total investment return at moderate levels of volatility. The investment objective of the ZAR share class is to achieve outperformance of the ICE BofA (Bank of America) US Treasury Index, 50% hedged to ZAR. To achieve the investment objective the fund will follow a fund of funds approach to create a diversified portfolio comprising both government and non-government bonds, predominantly in the United States. The fund may also invest directly in fixed income securities, money market instruments, exchange rate swaps, cash and cash equivalents from time to time.

RISK REWARD PROFILE

The fund invests in interest bearing securities of primarily US government, US corporates and asset-backed issuers through various underlying managers. While predominantly investment grade, the credit quality of the underlying could include sub-investment grade instruments. In terms of the above risk reward profile, the portfolio has a low risk rating due to the nature of its investments, but is not a risk-free investment. The portfolio may be subject to risks which include, but are not limited to, adverse political and macroeconomic events, creditworthiness of bond issuers and significant corporate events, as well as interest rate conditions and currency fluctuations. Please refer to the additional risks highlighted in the Information and Disclosures section.

INVESTMENT ADVISOR COMMENTARY

The 10-year US Treasury yield rose modestly in December. The ICE BofA US Treasury Index fell 0.6% during the month. Riskier fixed income (i.e. those that trade at a spread to US Treasuries) outperformed US Treasuries. US high yield corporate bonds and emerging market debt fared best of the spread sectors. Developed market government bonds ex-US marginally underperformed US Treasuries. All performances are measured in US dollars.

The ZAR share class of the Peregrine US Bond Fund ('the fund') slipped 0.4% in December, but still ahead of its benchmark. In terms of the underlying active managers, both PIMCO and Fidelity outperformed. The fund's dynamic USD/ZAR currency hedging strategy was neutral for monthly performance and has added value since inception of the fund.

The fund continues to adhere to its policy.

The TER and Transaction Costs cannot be determined accurately because of the short life span of the Financial Product. Calculations are based on actual data where possible and best estimates where actual data is not available.

Total Expense Ratio (TER) and Transaction Costs (TC)

A higher TER does not necessarily imply a poor return, nor does a low TER imply a good return. The current TER may not necessarily be an accurate indication of future TERs. The TER does not include Transaction Costs, which are shown separately. Transaction Costs are a necessary cost in administering the fund and impacts fund returns. It should not be considered in isolation as returns may be impacted by many other factors over time including market returns, the type of financial product, the investment decisions of the investment manager and the TER.

The company has also appointed Citadel Investment Services Proprietary Limited ("Citadel"), registration number 1996/006847/07, as the investment advisor of the fund. Risk warning

The risk and return profile of a fund illustrates the amount of risk undertaken by an investor in the hope of achieving a particular return on an investment. The generally accepted principle is that potential return rises with an increase in risk. The risk and return profile on the face of this document is based on the historical performance of the fund. In addition to the risk warnings included elsewhere in this document, it is important to note that there are many other risks associated with investing in collective investments. These can include but are not limited to the following: general market risks (such as general movements in interest rates; external factors [war, natural disasters and such like]; changes to the law and regulatory frameworks; governmental policy changes; global, regional or national economic developments), risks related to a specific security (like the possibility of a company's credit rating being downgraded); and loss in the purchasing power of an investment as a result of an increase in the price of consumer goods (known as inflationary risks).

This fund invests in foreign securities. There are potential material risks associated with investing in foreign securities. These include but are not limited to potential constraints on liquidity and the repatriation of funds, macroeconomic risks, political and social instability, foreign exchange risks, tax risks, settlement risks and potential limitations on the availability of market information, all of which may have an impact on fund performance. In addition, risks associated with investing in emerging markets (which are generally less mature than those in developed markets) include but are not limited to currency risks, the possibility of expropriation, confiscatory taxation or nationalisation of assets and the establishment of foreign exchange controls which may include the suspension of the ability to transfer currency from a given country.

Derivatives

If this fund has exposure to derivatives, this fact and the level of exposure will be specified within this document. Where this fund invests in other funds which use derivatives, those underlying derivative exposures will not be contained in this document. Derivatives derive their value from the value of an underlying asset. Investing in derivatives involves risk because depending on how the derivative is structured, the fund's losses or gains may be unlimited. To prevent this, the fund's derivative positions must be "covered" at all times. This means that the fund must always hold the underlying asset on which the derivative is based or have sufficient cash or "margin" to deliver if the fund's derivative positions move against it. If derivatives are used in this fund, the cash/cash equivalent shown in the asset allocation section includes the portion allocated to "margin" for covering derivative positions and such portion of cash/cash equivalent is therefore not available for use by the manager. Other asset classes shown in the asset allocation section represent the market value of those assets and must be read together with the derivative holdings' disclosure. The use of derivatives in collective investment schemes is governed by regulation. Derivatives can be used only for efficiency in portfolio management, for increasing a fund's yield, or to protect the fund against losses if the value of the shares or instruments invested in, or the market, falls. They may not be used for speculating or for enhancing the return of the fund by using gearing. The most common derivatives are options (puts and calls) and futures.

General disclosures

Collective investment schemes are generally medium to long-term investments. The value of participatory interests or the investment may go down as well as up. Past performance is not necessarily a guide to future performance. Collective Investment schemes are traded at ruling prices and can engage in borrowing and scrip lending. A schedule of fees and charges and maximum commission is available on request from the manager. Neither the manager, the company nor Citadel, provides any guarantee either with respect to the capital or the return of the fund. The manager has the right to close the portfolio to new investors to manage it more efficiently in accordance with its mandate. Where any forecasts or commentary about the expected future performance of asset classes or the market in general are made in this document, please note that neither the manager, the company nor Citadel guarantee that such forecasts or commentary will occur. Where this fund invests into other funds ("underlying funds"), delays in reporting by such underlying funds may impact on the accuracy of the asset allocation and country/sector allocation disclosures.

Performance disclosures

The performance calculated and shown is that of the portfolio. Individual investor performances may differ because of initial fees (if applicable), the actual investment date, the date of reinvestment and dividend withholding tax. Where periods of longer than one year are used in calculating past performance, certain figures may be annualised. Annualisation is the conversion of a rate of any length of time into a rate that is reflected on an annual basis. All since-inception performance returns are calculated from the launch date of the portfolio.

Calculation of the NAV and price

The value of participatory interests is calculated on a NAV basis. The NAV is the total value of all assets in the portfolio including any income accruals and less any deductible expenses (which may include audit fees, brokerage, service fees, securities transfer tax and bank charges). Forward pricing is used. The price of participatory interests is calculated by dividing the NAV by the number of participatory interests in issue. The fund is available via certain LISPs, who levy their own fees. Investors in this fund may thus be liable for an initial fee and/or annual service fee levied by the third-party administrator that is not reflected in the initial charge (where applicable) or NAV calculation. Prices are made available on the Peregrine website (www.peregrine.gg) in accordance with the dealing frequency of the fund.
