

INVESTMENT OBJECTIVE AND POLICY

The H4 Growth Fund is a moderate to high risk multi-asset portfolio, with the objective of achieving capital appreciation over the medium to long term at a risk level that is somewhat lower than that of a pure equity investment, and with a level of capital stability that is greater than that of a pure equity investment. The portfolio invests primarily in listed equity securities, fixed interest securities, listed real estate and assets in liquid form. The portfolio is permitted to invest in offshore investments as legislation permits.

FUND COMMENTARY

Global equity markets ended Q3-2023 in the red. Investor optimism faded, given concerns about the health of the global economy and the increasing prospect that the market would see a sustained period of higher interest rates. A surge in longer-term US treasury yields led to US government bonds also posting negative returns. In this environment, and despite a surging US dollar in the second half of the quarter, emerging market equities marginally outperformed their developed market counterparts, but ongoing weakness in China's economy and concerns about its property sector woes led to emerging markets also ending the quarter in negative territory. The local equity market continued to take its cue from global markets. The FTSE/JSE All Share Index delivered negative returns, led by large losses in telecommunications and metals & minerals stocks. SA government bonds ended the quarter marginally lower. The rand was relatively flat versus the US dollar. Against this backdrop, the H4 Growth Fund ("the fund") was down 1.5% for the quarter.

Notable transactions included trimming the fund's allocation to SA bonds in the first half of the quarter on the back of further declines in SA bond yields, gradually increasing the allocation to US government bonds following a surge in US bond yields and increasing the fund's offshore exposure. At the end of September, we bought back SA government bonds as their prices fell sharply on the back of domestic fiscal concerns. During the quarter we also implemented currency hedges on a portion of the fund's offshore allocation (to reduce the negative impact of possible rand strength) and hedged a portion of its offshore equity exposure. At quarter-end, the fund held a diversified mix of assets which the manager deems appropriate for the current investment climate. Sizeable asset class exposures included domestic & global equity, SA & US managed volatility equity along with SA government bonds and limited local & global listed property.

INFORMATION AND DISCLOSURES

About the manager, trustee, and scheme

The trustee of the scheme is the Standard Bank of South Africa Limited of 9th Floor, Standard Bank Centre, 5 Simmonds Street, Johannesburg, 2001 (telephone +27 11 636 9111/2).

About the investment manager

The manager has appointed Citadel Investment Services Proprietary Limited, registration number 1996/006847/07 ("Citadel"), as the investment manager of the portfolio. Citadel is licensed as a financial services provider in terms of the Financial Advisory and Intermediary Services Act, 2002. Citadel Asset Management is the asset management division of Citadel.

Risk warning

The risk and return profile of a fund illustrates the amount of risk undertaken by an investor in the hope of achieving a particular return on an investment. The generally accepted principle is that potential return rises with an increase in risk. The risk and return profile on the face of this document is based on the historical performance of the fund. In addition to the risk warnings included elsewhere in this document, it is important to note that there are many other risks associated with investing in collective investments. These can include but are not limited to the following: general market risks (such as general movements in interest rates; external factors [war, natural disasters and such like]; changes to the law and regulatory frameworks; governmental policy changes; global, regional or national economic developments), risks related to a specific security (like the possibility of a company's credit rating being downgraded); and loss in the purchasing power of an investment as a result of an increase in the price of consumer goods (known as inflationary risks). Some of the portfolios may invest in foreign securities. There are potential material risks associated with investing in foreign securities. These include but are not limited to: potential constraints on liquidity and the repatriation of funds, macroeconomic risks, political and social instability, foreign exchange risks, tax risks, settlement risks and potential limitations on the availability of market information, all of which may have an impact on fund performance. In addition, risks associated with investing in emerging markets (which are generally less mature than those in developed markets) include but are not limited to currency risks, the possibility of expropriation, confiscatory taxation or nationalisation of assets and the establishment of foreign exchange controls which may include the suspension of the ability to transfer currency from a given country.

Derivatives

If this portfolio has exposure to derivatives, this fact and the level of effective exposure will be specified within this document. Where this portfolio invests in other portfolios which use derivatives, those underlying derivative exposures will not be contained in this document. Derivatives derive their value from the value of an underlying asset. Investing in derivatives involves risk because depending on how the derivative is structured, the portfolio's losses or gains may be unlimited. To prevent this, the portfolio's derivative positions must be "covered" at all times. This means that the portfolio must always hold the underlying asset on which the derivative is based or have sufficient cash or "margin" to deliver if the portfolio's derivative positions move against it. If derivatives are used in this portfolio, the cash/cash equivalent shown in the asset allocation section includes the portion allocated to "margin" for covering derivative positions and such portion of cash/cash equivalent is therefore not available for use by the manager. Other asset classes shown in the asset allocation section represent the market value of those assets and must be read together with the derivative holdings disclosure. The use of derivatives in collective investment schemes is governed by regulation. Derivatives can be used only for efficiency in portfolio management, for increasing a portfolio's yield, or to protect the portfolio against losses if the value of the shares or instruments invested in, or the market, falls. They may not be used for speculating or for enhancing the return of the portfolio by using gearing. The most common derivatives are options (puts and calls) and futures.

Total Expense Ratio (TER) and Transaction Costs

The current TER may not necessarily be an accurate indication of future TERs. The TER does not include Transaction Costs, which are shown separately. Transaction Costs are a necessary cost in administering the fund and impacts fund returns. It should not be considered in isolation as returns may be impacted by many other factors over time including market returns, the type of financial product, the investment decisions of the investment manager and the TER.

General disclosures

This document is the minimum disclosure document required by Board Notice 92 of 2014 published by the Financial Sector Conduct Authority under the Collective Investment Schemes Control Act 45 of 2002. This portfolio was established for a specific group of investors and may not be available for direct investment by the general public. Collective investment schemes are generally medium to long-term investments. The value of participatory interests or the investment may go down as well as up. Past performance is not necessarily a guide to future performance. Collective investment schemes are traded at ruling prices and can engage in borrowing and scrip lending. A schedule of fees and charges and maximum commission is available on request from the manager. Neither the manager nor Citadel provides any guarantee either with respect to the capital or the return of the portfolio. The manager has the right to close the portfolio to new investors in order to manage it more efficiently in accordance with its mandate. Where any forecasts or commentary about the expected future performance of asset classes or the market in general are made in this document, please note that neither Citadel nor H4 guarantee that such forecasts or commentary will occur. Where this portfolio invests into portfolios of other collective investment schemes ("underlying portfolios"), delays in reporting by such underlying portfolios may impact on the accuracy of the asset allocation and country/sector allocation disclosures.

Performance disclosures

The performance calculated and shown is that of the portfolio. Individual investor performances may differ as a result of initial fees (if applicable), the actual investment date, the date of reinvestment and dividend withholding tax. Where periods of longer than one year are used in calculating past performance, certain figures may be annualised. Annualisation is the conversion of a rate of any length of time into a rate that is reflected on an annual basis. Actual annual figures and performance calculations are available upon request. All since inception performance returns are calculated from the launch date of the portfolio.

H4 GROWTH FUND B1

Disclosures in respect of the Citadel SA Money Market H4 Fund only

A money market portfolio is not a bank deposit account. The price of participatory interests is targeted at a constant value. The total return to the investor is made up of interest received and any gain or loss made on any particular investment, and in most cases the return will merely have the effect of increasing or decreasing the daily yield, but in the case of abnormal losses it can have the effect of reducing the capital value of the portfolio. Excessive withdrawals from the portfolio may place the portfolio under liquidity pressures – in such circumstances a process of ring-fencing of withdrawal instructions and managed pay-outs over time may be followed. The yield is calculated monthly using historical figures and is annualised.

Disclosures in respect of the Citadel Global Equity H4 Fund of Funds

A fund of funds portfolio invests in portfolios of collective investment schemes that levy their own charges, which could result in a higher fee structure for the fund of funds.

Disclosures in respect of the Citadel SA Money Market H4 Fund, the Citadel SA Bond H4 Fund and the Citadel SA Income H4 Fund

The yield is historic and is calculated as at the date stipulated on the face of this document.

Disclosures in respect of third party-named portfolios

A third party-named portfolio bears the name of both the manager and the investment manager. Where this portfolio is a third party-named portfolio, the manager retains full legal responsibility for the third party-named portfolio.

Calculation of the NAV and price

The value of participatory interests is calculated on a NAV basis. The NAV is the total value of all assets in the portfolio including any income accruals and less any deductible expenses (which may include audit fees, brokerage, service fees, securities transfer tax and bank charges). The price of participatory interests is calculated by dividing the NAV by the number of participatory interests in issue. Prices are published daily in local newspapers. The portfolio is available via certain LISPs, who levy their own fees. Investors in this portfolio may thus be liable for an initial fee and/or annual service fee levied by the third-party administrator that is not reflected in the initial charge (where applicable) or NAV calculation.
